Some news from me: Last November I was please contact classnotes@drew.edu!

Arthur Shapiro shared his memories of friend, June Strelecki C’50, who passed away in 2013. The Honorable June Strelecki was one of the first women to be accepted to, and graduate from, Harvard Law School. June was also the first woman deputy attorney general in the State of New Jersey and the first woman motor vehicle director in the country. June served as a judge until 2008, when she retired, and continued to work with the Ocean County Prosecutor’s Office. June received an Alumni Achievement Award from Drew in 1960. Arthur shares that June gave him the nickname of Sharpy, which lasted through college.

The class of 1952 is looking for a new Class Secretary to collect Classnotes. If you are interested in taking over, please contact classnotes@drew.edu!

Rolf Ahlers shares “Dear Classmates! Some news from me: Last November I was struck with an upper respiratory virus. I had never before had anything similar. The ambulance brought me one late evening to the hospital with a violent asthma attack. My hypoxia was so extreme that my heart arrested. Apparently I was sedated even in the ambulance so they could intubate me. I woke up ten hours later in my hospital bed. I felt an immense weakness, probably due to the arrest. To make a long story short, this process repeated itself several times: several times I was released from the hospital too soon and had to be readmitted. In total I was hospitalized five times. I have been trying to recover physically ever since. I still have not retained my old vigor although I swim again daily. We had other mishaps here in my house at Lake George. In December, possibly between one of these hospitalizations, our in-ground basement pool crawl space cavity had filled completely with water; ruining all of the expensive electric and electronic equipment. Despite my immense weakness I crawled in there and over hours pumped dry the cavity together with my wife. Now the Swimex pool is up and running again. We both swim daily early in the morning in the pool - during the summer we also swim outside in the lake. Needless to say, these setbacks also set me back on my real work with which I busy myself: I am writing a new book on Friedrich Heinrich Jacobi (1743-1819), the early Romantic and Early Idealist German philosopher. Inspiration for that book, written in English and to be published in German, to contribute to an online Friedrich Heinrich Jacobi Lexicon. I am writing those contributions on various lemmata by Jacobi as well. This continuing work in the area of German Idealism has led to other duties: I am asked by professional journals in this field to write an occasional article or a review of a new book in my field. Several of such side-duties occupy me as well—and set me back with the new Jacobi book!! Dear Drew friends, I am often thinking of Drew in the context of this work, because I owe Drew so, so much: really the start of my life-long career in this area of German Idealism has led to other duties: I am asked by professional journals in this field to write an occasional article or a review of a new book in my field. Drew classmates from 3,000 miles away in Tim Graham. We send greetings to our all those years ago, but miss our best friend often about our days in Drew Forest and we for Meritorious Service to the Legal Profession me its Friend of the Legal Profession Award 2023, the Orchestra is celebrating my four Allied Arts Foundation and the Life Trustees attended school. I still chair the board of the Council of the United Methodist Church in Oliveto Karen Annual conference of the United Methodist having served as Chancellor to seven United member of the United Methodist Church 86 years old. Jonie remains active in St. Mark's through the campus. Sincere congratulations, George! Hall. George taught history and also coached their dining hall the George Groom Dining Rectory School” in Pomfret, CT, they named their dining hall the George Groom Dining Hall. George taught history and also coached soccer, baseball, hockey, wrestling and basketball between 1969 and 2003. He was head of the dining room for at least 20 years. When he retired, he volunteered in the equipment room at the gym and later served on the Board of Trustees. They live across the street from the school and still enjoy participating in school events and walking through the campus. Sincere congratulations, George!

Carol (Tulenko) Irving says that she, too, is leading a very quiet life at Willow Valley, a retirement community in Pennsylvania. Her two daughters, five grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren are her greatest source of entertainment. Her large retirement community of over 2,600 people has lots of activities. She plays bridge often and volunteers in their library. “Aside from the usual ravages of old age—sciatica mainly,” she still drives locally although she no longer hikes or skis.

“How can you be doing this job for 40 years when we only got out of Drew ten years ago?” queried Roger Navratil. He and his wife decided to leave North Carolina and move to St. Augustine, FL in October 2023. As with many of us, medical issues are present, but he “still wakes up every day above the sod.” He encourages visitors for a few nights with “a lot of history and good food.” Contact the Alumni Office for his phone number.

Winifred “Sue” (Binkley) Rowe was asked at the beginning of the pandemic by her adult grandson to write some short accounts about her life and also family stories. She started slowly and after ideas flowed, she wrote about what it was like to live with an icebox instead of a refrigerator, what World War II seemed like to a seven-year-old, and lots more. She emailed them to her daughters and grandson who all seemed to appreciate them. She recommends that all our classmates have similar memories that could be shared with the younger generation. She also keeps busy reading, knitting, taking walks, going to all those doctor visits and “trying to smell the flowers.”

Admitting that it is more and more difficult to keep up contact with old friends and classmates, Bev (Bess) Vasquez was happy to respond. She and her husband John are doing great considering their age. They live in a retirement community in Walnut Creek, CA. Last fall they went on a three-week trip to Portugal, Spain, and Mallorca planned by their two daughters who “accompanied us to make sure we didn’t lose our way.” They spend a good part of the winter on beautiful Balboa Island in southern California near five of their grandkids who are close enough to visit. “Life is good!”

I lost summer this year. I fell and broke my left femur in mid-July, was hospitalized for a week after seven screws were inserted, then stayed at a rehab facility for a month. I wasn’t allowed to put weight on my leg for seven weeks. I told my therapists that when I was through, hopping on one leg with a walker would become an Olympic sport at which I would excel. As of this writing, I’ve graduated to a cane and out-patient therapy. No garden, no concerts, no trips. However, my church community was exceedingly helpful with cards, visits, calls, rides, and food.

Please continue to send your news. If you did not receive my email requesting news and want to be included, please let the Alumni Office know and I’ll add you to our class’ email list.
Drew classmates. On the board of one of them. I joined the three booths in antiques centers and serve Cowell are keeping mentally and intellectually alert. I love to think of heartier days of bounding through our beautiful Drew Forest to my next class or to the refectory, etc. The time has flown since then. Hope you are all well and enjoying life.

Nancy (Marshall) Stroh writes “No distant trips for me this year, although I shared time and space with my family on the eastern shore of Maryland, and the OBX of North Carolina. Daily local trips were made to my garden plot in Pennwood’s community garden. Pennwood is the CCRC where I live and where Drew History professor Dr. Brunhouse and his wife Mildred, lived during retirement - I was unaware of this when I moved in five years ago. My prolific garden has produced enough tomatoes to provide tomato sauce for me through the fall and winter. Other entertaining time is spent on the many educational and cultural programs they offer here. Watching Phillies baseball games during the season is almost a nightly habit; loud cheering when they win. Nancy MacArthur and Frances “Elaine” (Price) Berkoff live nearby so I see them occasionally.”

David Cowell dcowell@drew.edu
Pearl (Robertson) Carlin is trying to grow old gracefully, as surely we all are, as her days are filled with gym, doctors, card games with friends and only short trips, no wild parties or foreign excursions. Marian (Dickinson) Fielder arranged a big reunion in the Poconos with her daughter and son’s families. She also visited New York for a week of Broadway shows, a fall adding a night in the ER to spice up the trip. Marian meets with Naomi “Lynn” (Chappel) and Paul Gasserud regularly to discuss their latest book readings and movies, is herself in a book group, and wonders how the rest of us are keeping mentally and intellectually alert.

June (Kamen) Cowell C’61, P’90 and I (Dave Cowell C’61, P’90), are keeping busy. June with former clients doing interior design and I lead a book group in Mendham and manage three booths in antiques centers and serve on the board of one of them. I joined the emeriti faculty via Zoom to keep up with Drew news.

Ellen (Earp) Baker eebaker@aol.com
Hello Class of ’63. About a dozen of us showed up for our 60th Reunion. Attending were Diane (Suter) and Ralph Powell, Gail (Nargi) and George Hoag C’64, Anne (Pitkin) and Bill Long, Bob Fenstermacher, Marilyn (Moore) Holt, Lois Jackson, Maryann Zoleta, Dan MCFadden, Ellen (Earp) Baker and Alva Baker. We were sorry more of you were unable to come and we hope to see you next time. So, stay alive and well! See photo, page 4.

Congratulations to Jeff Gillman. He was recently honored for having served 50 consecutive years as a volunteer for NewBridge Services. This is a non-profit agency that provides counseling, addiction, and youth services to children, adults, and seniors in Morris, Passaic, and Sussex counties in northern New Jersey. He was honored at their golf outing fundraiser at the Knoll West Country Club and has been the chair of their golf outing fundraiser for the last 25 years. He wrote that all is well at the Gillman home front. He is having the second knee (right) done and hopes that will put an end to replacement body parts. The left was done about two years ago, and the only change is that the surgeon will be assisted with a Stryker robot to enable more precise cuts and quicker recovery. He and Marie have been sticking close to home as overseas trips were too taxing. With two grandchildren within a 30-minute drive, and with their sports and band activities, Jeff and Marie get to make the short trips for band contests, as well as sporting events. One is fencing and track, the other is jy football and varsity track, as well as the bass drummer in the marching band—and yes at halftime he is in his football uniform bounding away. The other two older grands are in college with one pursuing a robotics major at Worcester Polytechnic Institute in Worcester, MA. Jeff and Marie have slowly begun looking at senior residential facilities but are not moved by any need to proceed. Jeff is still playing golf once a week with a senior group of close friends. Marie is very mobile and shops, cooks, and gardens (he also gardens, but not as much) and has learned that the landscaper is very willing to trim and weed whack where necessary.

Diane (Suter) Powell also sent a long letter. She and Ralph Powell had a whirlwind month driving from the reunion to Los Angeles for their granddaughter’s highschool graduation. They did a lot of sightseeing at Disney, Legoland, and the San Diego Safari Park. Then they took their granddaughter to the Monterey Bay Aquarium and spent four nights in San Francisco. They walked halfway across the Golden Gate and back, had lunches at the Japanese Tea Garden and Sammy Wo’s in Chinatown, and rode cable cars. Unfortunately, they had to climb the thirteen story Coit Tower as the elevator was not working, and then walked down and up Lombard Street. Ralph had been feeling increasingly unwell while they were there, and by the time they left San Francisco, he was ill. They started back east, and stopped in Albuquerque to visit an ex-daughter-in-law, and she said she should be in a hospital. He was diagnosed with congestive heart failure, and stabilized enough to fly home, while their oldest and their grandson brought the car back to Virginia. Ralph had a triple bypass and aortic valve replacement on July 7 and came home for good on August 6. All is going pretty well now.

Bill Long had lots of news to report: He and Anne (Pitkin) Long thoroughly enjoyed seeing Drew classmates and others at our recent reunion. Afterwards they enjoyed Ralph “Art” Binz’s [C’60] visit at their Friends Lake cabin which they have enjoyed in New York’s southern Adirondack Mountains for 40+ years. Their “kids” Brian, Jeff, and Karen and their wives and husband and six of seven grandkids, and a few of their friends, also got to Friends Lake for a welcome visit (from NH, MA, TX, WY, SC, NC, CO, and NY!). Bill continues a part-time psychology practice. They both continue volunteering in community programs, Anne with Double H camp and ski programs for seriously ill children and with STEP equestrian treatment program, and both with their CAPTAIN teen homelessness shelter. Bill was honored to receive three separate community service awards this summer. Most importantly they are blessed with adequate health for being in their 80s (he is still able to run shorter races and fly his Cessna Skyhawk). They wish all of our Drew classmates a healthy next year.

Dave Pingree writes from Philly where all is well with the Pingree family: wife, three children, four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. He continues working full-time for Gainwell Technologies, a healthcare technology company and would love to hear from classmates, especially those from the 1963 Ranger baseball team and the London and UN semesters, including Alan “Pete” Petty. A double request to classmates: register/ vote and be fully vaccinated.

Neil Greenberg shares, “Although having retired from The University of Tennessee as a Professor Emeritus, little has changed in my routines except Kathy and I take more extended road trips each year: east coast (Florida to New York) and out west (Tennessee’s Great Smoky Mountains to Colorado’s Rockies and Santa Fe). Kathy and I will again be visiting family and friends and former students along the way. We love the Southwest, but also our community in Knoxville and my long-time anchor here: my favorite seminar (I’ll be grading presentations this weekend),
Greetings again, classmates.

Unfortunately our news this time is somewhat slim, so I want to encourage you all to jot down right now (while you’re thinking of it) any news you care to share with others in our class and send it off to me. Many thanks in advance.

Seeing how well we’ve aged is a joy to behold! Kathy reports that in recent months she visited Peggy (Leichthammer) Domber at her home in Morristown, NJ, and also enjoyed having Dianne (Mabb) Peeling visit her on Cape Cod from Pennsylvania. But Kathy’s biggest news was that her family threw a memorable 80th birthday celebration for her using all their fishing and culinary skills. The menu included lobster rolls, fish chowder, and stuffed quahogs, topped off with strawberry shortcake. She adds that family members personally caught all the seafood they enjoyed. During the summer, Kathy flew to California to officiate at her niece’s wedding. See photo, right.

John Allen writes that he and his wife Gloria made their annual pilgrimage to New Orleans in April to enjoy great music and food during the French Quarter Festival. The next month they traveled to London where their son, Jeff, works for the Ministry of Justice. He reports that Jeff has become adept at driving on the “wrong” side of the road. Jeff and his wife took John and Gloria on a tour of Hastings, Dover, and Brighton, followed by a train trip to Paris. John says that this trip was very different from the boat/train trip he made during his London semester in 1964. In Paris, they introduced their 19-year-old twin grandchildren to the city and to Versailles. The peripatetic family spent 10 days visiting their daughter Rebekah and family in Seattle at the end of September. John says they also spend a lot of time with their son John and family near their home in Westchester County, NY, and with their daughter Alicia and family in Medford, MA. John notes that in keeping with the strong family tradition of commitment to public service, both Alicia and her husband work in local government. John and Gloria will both turn 80 in 2024 and plan to celebrate with their extended family at the Jersey shore next summer.

A letter from Bob Smart says that he celebrated his 80th birthday by going to lunch with his three sisters, noting that he considers it a blessing that he and all his siblings are in fairly good health and can celebrate birthdays together. After Bob got his master’s degree in public administration from the University of Pennsylvania, he took a job in Philadelphia city government, where he worked for more than 32 years. After retiring, he continued to live in Philadelphia for another 20 plus years before moving to Massachusetts to be closer to family. He and his sisters all live in adjoining towns, with Bob enjoying his brand-new apartment in Nichols Village, an active senior retirement community where he moved in January 2020. He describes his fellow residents as “active and spunky,” while sharing that he is one of the youngest people living there. Not one to stay idle, Bob taught himself how to use Powerpoint, Zoom and other editing apps, and now produces a monthly travel program presented in the Village auditorium, as well as streamed to residents in their apartments. When he was thinking about what to call it, he recalled Professor Robert Smith telling him that he and his wife, Lois, liked his travel letters so much they felt they were traveling on armchair adventures with him. And so the name for the series was born:
Bob Smart’s Armchair Adventures (with thanks to Professor Smith). Earlier this year, Bob traveled south to visit classmates Keir Hoeltzel and Dave Schlansker in New Jersey as well as stopping by to visit friends and his church in Philadelphia, and the Drew campus. Bob thinks perhaps we should consider having a Zoom class reunion since many of us may not be able to travel to campus easily in the future.

Harry Brand sent along a brief note, mentioning that he was distressed to read that many of our classmates had passed away as of our 25th anniversary reunion. He also mentioned how much he appreciated the new basketball coach using newsletters to keep everyone informed about the team.

Your secretary spent two weeks in California this summer visiting friends, followed by two weeks in my beloved Maine, where we brought the sun and warm weather from North Carolina. Although my 80th is in November, I plan to honor it with a trip to Hawaii next April, a destination to which I have never traveled. Please do remember to send me your news as soon as you can.

The class of 1966 is looking for a new Class Secretary to collect Classnotes. If you are interested in taking over, please contact classnotes@drew.edu!

Michael D. McGeehe shares “After retiring from a 40-year career in San Francisco, my wife and I eagerly moved back to Oklahoma five years ago to help care for our grandchildren, the only rational reason for such a retrogressive move.”

Reid Fraser writes “I continue to live in Burlington, CT and continue as a loan officer at Capital for Change, a non-profit in Wallingford, CT, where we specialize in affordable housing in the state. I fondly recall my Drew years and friends including the soccer team and the three semesters of London, Washington, and UN. Regards to all.”

Bruce Woolley fappian@hotmail.com

Because 1967 is a great class and should be heard from, I have accepted the role of Class Secretary. As we age it’s reportable news that we’re breathing in and out so let’s have confirmation from you even if you think your lives are mundane. Here in Rochester, NY, which has turned out to be a garden spot of the nation with remarkably pleasant weather, I’m busy with various volunteering and have recently begun serving as a deacon at Third Presbyterian Church. Since we’ve reopened to congregational worship, I do see Eleanor (Fritz) Hopke C’68 at church.

I no longer travel but some of us do. Paul “Alan” Barthel and Rod Brandt visited family in Virginia this summer. On the way home to Toronto, they stopped to see Vicki (Carlson) and Gary Aspenberg C’67, G’72 at their second home in Dubois, PA.

Kenneth L. Euerle C’67, P’93 shares “I had a delightful time at my house (Cheshire, CT) this summer with Bill Kortum (NYC), Greg Rood (Cape Cod), Harry Arnold (PA), and Fritz Wagner (FL). Unfortunately, Phil Rider (MA) and Herb Sauer (FL) were not able to attend. Everyone was doing well and was full of stories from our days at Drew!

Mary Ellen (Chase) C’68 and Roy Jacobsen are living in Charlestown, RI on the coast in a place called Quonochontaug, a lovely neck that offers ocean frontage, seven-mile beach, and salt water ponds great for kayaking and quahogs, bluefish, lobsters and oysters. Yum! "We keep in touch with former roommate Paul “Alan” Barthel and partner Rod, Bob Short, Margaret (Kelly) Brokaw C’68, and Susan (Strandberg) Burhurse C’68, P’00. I would love to hear from 1967 classmates. Sadly, many of us have lost touch with one another. Now is the time to make future plans to be at Drew for the 60th Anniversary of our graduation in 2027. It’s just three years away."

Len Altamura writes “Alice (Cording) Altamura C’68 and I are doing well here in lower, slower Delaware. Now in our 55th year of marriage. Both retired after careers in business (Alice), and running non-profit organizations (me). We have one son and three grandkids living in North Jersey. Life has been very good to us and we often think of Drew, where our lives came together. Hope to hear from Ron Rossi, Edwin Glenn, Frank Spina, Rich Semple C’68, and the rest of the crazies from Embury Hall.

Merle (Kley) Gatewood writes “It was so good to hear from Bruce, since my only ties with the class of 1967 have passed away: Genie Bowen in 2012 and Marion Francisco in 2022. Doing well overall thanks to a pacemaker and a husband younger than myself. Went to Greece rather painfully last year, but got a new hip this year, so travel is still in the cards. Feeling blessed. Close to our family and our church family. During the pandemic I watched every free MET opera I had ever wished to see. I’ve been studying Italian online, corresponding with a French writer, and reading ever deeper into the Shakespeare authorship question. Hope to keep on learning.”

The class of 1968 is looking for a new Class Secretary to collect Classnotes. If you are interested in taking over, please contact classnotes@drew.edu!

Frederick “Rick” Fuest C’68, P’02, P’08 and his wife Heather P’02, P’08 continue to enjoy retirement and spending their summers on Lake Cayuga in upstate NY and winters in Venice, FL. This past spring Rick traveled to Germany to work on family genealogy and to visit friends from when he and Heather lived in Dusseldorf. In October 2023 they spent several weeks cruising the Mediterranean. When not traveling Rick and Heather live in New Jersey not too far from the Drew campus. Rick continues to serve as Vice Chair of the Drew Board of Trustees and last year was honored to serve as the Chair of the Presidential Search Committee that ultimately selected Hilary Link as the Careo (Cumings) Keyho Webb shares “Unfortunately, in my later years I have had several times. The most recent was a doozy! I broke my neck while walking my dog outside of our condo in Jonesborough, TN. That was August 8, and I still have on the neck brace that keeps my neck from breaking completely. I get it off on October 5 (hopefully). I was rushing to get back to an online client, and hit the deck! Donna (Pethbridge) Katsios and Dale Read have been helpful keeping me cheered up by telephone!”

Eleanor (Fritz) Hopke writes “Since the pandemic lockdown started, a group of us from 1968 began and continues meeting monthly on 4th Thursdays via Zoom. A 1966 alum has since joined in, too. We share about families, travels, health, photos, what we’re doing in our communities, all sorts of topics. Those who were able to gather for a “mini-reunion” this past June in PA (See photo, page 5).”

Jane (Dugdale) Bussard janenbussard47@gmail.com

Join us back on campus Friday, June 7–Saturday, June 8, 2024 to celebrate our 55th reunion!

First to respond to my latest appeal for news, Gloria (Clauser) Van Bree wrote: You said you liked pictures—here is one of my husband, Ken, me, and our goddaughter Lauryl, plus the four-legged member of our family, Dena. It was taken with a backdrop of our yard this spring (see photo, page 11). Lauryl came to visit us because our Mercedes Sprinter van road trip to visit her and see her new glass-blowing and metal-design workshop in Friday Harbor on San Juan island was aborted by my trip to the ER followed by a four-day hospital stay. I am grateful that it was nothing life-threatening and something that could be treated with IV antibiotics. I am well and back to normal life, albeit closer to home this summer with weekend trips to Shakespeare and local theatre events. I am happily still working as a contract psychologist as many hours a week as fits with my personal needs for exercise and general enjoyment of life. It has been a lovely, mild summer here in California—at least where I live in Silicon Valley. I hope we will continue to be lucky through the fall months as September and October can be hot and increase fire dangers. My best to all.

Betty (Hazard) Nolte asks how many states you have visited. “This summer/fall Jerry and I went to North Dakota and to Oregon (Road Scholar program). We have now visited 49 states with only Oklahoma to go. Hopefully, that will happen in 2024. Meanwhile, we continue to enjoy life in a CCRC (Continuing Care Retirement Community) in Cary, NC. Our two single children live nearby. I get active on the Residents’ Council during Covid (Zoom meetings and no travel, so plenty of time). I am now finishing up my second term as President of the Heartstone Residents’ Association. I have had fun planning monthly programs, working with management, and getting to know the residents. However, I am looking forward to turning over the responsibilities at the end of the year. Looking forward to more bridge and travel.”

Ruth (Clark) Matte wrote, “Checking in as requested! All is great here in Ottawa and we are enjoying an outstanding autumn of colors. For some reason, it is still in the 70s during the day and will be for another couple of weeks. Friends and family are also—for the most part—healthy and surviving the aging process thus far. I use my bridge team as role models—all closer to 90 than 80, and I cannot keep up with many of them. I still have my wonderful dog, and my son lives two blocks away. I am actually getting together with one of my closest friends in the near future—we met in 6th grade!”

Thank you to Linda (Calieo) and Charles Putney, who checked in too, even updating their email address. They wrote: “We are still in Vermont. We have not had to move south for warmer weather; warmer weather is moving north to us. We spend a fair amount of time keeping track of two foster daughters and six women who were international exchange students with us over the years. We have had our share of health issues and try to coordinate doctor visits. But we are still singing, and active in our U.U. church, a local conservation organization, a history book club, and more. Thinking about a cruise one of these days.”

Pat (Danish) and Cary Campbell responded from a cruise ship first. Upon their return home, Cary wrote: “We have been in Charlotte, NC for the past 41 years. I guess our news is that we are moving from the house that we have lived in for 41 years to a retirement community in Matthews, NC, which is just outside of Charlotte. We expected to move in the spring of 2023 but, as of now, construction of our new home is still not complete. We moved out of our home in August and, in the interim, we’re staying in a small apartment in Matthews and living at our beach home and our daughter’s cabin in the mountains. Right now we don’t even have an address, which is a very strange feeling. Pat and I remain active in the Charlotte community. Pat spends much of her time with our two granddaughters, teaching the Bible and leading a small group ministry. I still spend my time on the tennis court or fishing on the North Carolina coast. I did not make my annual fishing trip to Alaska this year. I have been to Alaska 23 of the last 25 years, but my Alaska fishing days are probably over. The only classmate that we have seen is J. David Neylon. David is well; he recently relocated from Vermont to Maine. It is really nice to hear what our Drew classmates are up to.”

Mountains-to-Sea Trail, which promoted and assisted in the development of a more than 1200-mile trail across the state from the Smoky Mountains to the Outer Banks. I was the trail crew leader over a 16-mile section carved out of the woods and mountains in the Boone area, served on the Friends’ board of directors, and as treasurer and vice-president. In 2022, we moved to Virginia Beach to be near Margaret’s two brothers and sisters. We currently live in a condo looking out on the Chesapeake Bay, but plan to move into a retirement community down the road when their new high-rise units are completed (estimated to be in 5 years).

Heard from Bruce Van Deusen, who has been living in Palm Coast, FL, for the last 18 years. Bruce is now in his 51st year working in life insurance and financial services, having been with The Equitable for 33 years, and an independent broker since he moved south. He has been active in the community, and this year finished a nine-year term on the Board of the local AdventHealth Palm Coast Foundation.

Greetings from Kent Jaffe and Frannie Edwards C'69, G'71, who both checked in. And I, Jane, say thank you to all who wrote. It is great to hear from each of you!

Kathleen (Sixton) Hall finally got her Italian citizenship this summer. Her maternal great-grandfather always insisted he was French but in her genealogical research she learned that he was born in Genoa so she was able to apply Jure Sanguinis. She and Richard Hall C'68 are hoping to travel to Italy eventually. They are still enjoying retirement in Red Bank and would be happy to see any classmates who happen to be visiting the Jersey Shore.

Carla (Dabrowski) Kramer shares “Celebrating our 50th wedding anniversary was a summer-long event! We started with a week in Massanutten with our four children and their families, which included all ten of our grands! I loved being able to walk next door to hug them whenever I liked. A truly special time together! Greetings to all my Drew classmates. I love reading your stories and look forward to seeing more of them.” See photo, page 7.

Dennis Ingoglia and wife Mary are in the process of moving to Savannah, GA.

Jane (Spaeth) C'70, P'00 and Peter Eyes C'71, P'00 recently visited Janet Dewar at her summer home in Maine.

Chris Kersey was recently inducted in the Drew Athletics Hall of Fame (tennis & basketball), and actively supports Drew athletic programs. He and his wife Helen reside near Drew, in Bernardsville.

Keith Halperin recently retired but still does consulting for his firm, Korn Ferry, and recently endowed an industrial psychology program at Drew. He lives in the Minneapolis area with his wife, Karen.

Mary “Polly” (Davis) Stetler was recently recognized by the Governor of Pennsylvania for her artistic quilt work.

Barry Lenson has been supervising the restoration of murals painted by his father, Michael Lenson. He resides in Millburn, NJ with his wife Fran.

Doug Stephens lives with wife Jan in Exeter, NH where he has a private psychotherapy practice. Doug has four grandchildren. As with so many of us, Doug reports that life for him has been good, albeit with many joys and sorrows.

Rhonda Rush reports that she is well, retired, and happy. She enjoys birdwatching!

I am sad to report the death of Gwen Ivy. She died December 2016 in Toronto, Canada after having served as a professor of neuro-embryology at the University of Toronto.

Greg Leuser wrote to me after reading my last class notes that he and a few others in our class had also attended the June 2022 reunion. I regret that Christine (Stack) Bell and I missed seeing them! Greg has lived in Madison, NJ many years and owns a local contracting business. He made the trails in the now Hepburn Woods in the Drew Forest. He has had four Samoyed dogs and walks daily in the Forest. He said 40 years of dog walking keeps him centered and makes it easy to keep track of the Forest.

After living in the same home in Walnut Creek, CA for 16 years, Doug Goodman C'76 and his wife Patty bought a larger one-level home with a pool in Concord, CA and are currently undergoing a six-month renovation.

Eugene Lisansky emailed me that he keeps busy with volunteer roles with the Crohn’s & Colitis Foundation (CCF) and the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLi). As a patient-member of the CCF’s 2024 IBD Research Priorities Review Committee, Eugene was a panelist at a two-day symposium in Manhattan this September. A week later he was a panelist at an IBD Patient Education Day in Orlando. Subsequently he led the inaugural meeting of a new IBD patient support group at the University of South Florida Health Systems. He has dreamed of starting a group there for nearly seven years, so he was elated for it to come to fruition. He currently facilitates three separate IBD support groups in Tampa Bay. At OLLI at Eckerd College Eugene is the former Chairman of the Marketing Committee and current member of their Advisory Council and Curriculum Committee. They are re-imagining the program and adding new activities as they continue to recover membership losses from the pandemic. He plans to lead courses on Film - Movies About Movies and 12 Actors in Search of A Character. Eugene’s wife Daisy continues performing in both Fleetwood MAX and Wall of Echoes, a Pink Floyd tribute band. They closed the summer concert series at the historic boardshell on Daytona Beach before a few thousand dump but enthusiastic fans. She is planning to retire from her 35-year traffic career in about 15 months. They anticipate more music, more travel, and more cats...

In a brief email response after reading my last class notes, Mark Schultz C’77, P'09 mentioned that his daughter attended Drew in the class of 2009!

Brenda Yanni and Caren (Siebert) Breen also briefly connected with me via email after I forwarded the Spring Class Notes. I was pleased to hear around the same time from Gerry Lian and Myriam “Mimi” (Cordoba) De La Pena that they plan to attend our 50th reunion in 2027. The countdown has begun!

The April 2023 Holloway dorm quad/ Foster 22 suitemate reunion with husbands on Isle of Palm, SC near Charleston that I referenced in my last notes was wonderful! It included Laura (Papa) and Larry Babbin C’79, Jennifer Beaver and Alan Tolkoff, Christine (Stack) and Paul Bell C’76, Robin Stern and Potter Stewart, and Chas Edwards and me. We stayed in a large condo facing the ocean and toured many local sights. It was very reminiscent of college days in Foster 22, with maybe not as much studying and partying! We celebrated our 50 year friendships!

I spent a memorable week with Kathy (Hyman) Floyd C’78, P’13 in Seattle in May. Kathy knew the area well and was an amazing guide. Contrary to my expected rainy weather, we had seven days of warm sun. Having never been to the Pacific Northwest, I did some heavy sightseeing on my own while she ran heavy sightseeing on her own while she ran forward to spending the winter with family and friends in Florida. He is also “slowly writing a book about housing history, something I worked on before retiring” and says “keep in touch!”

Ken Hyne and Lynne welcomed their second granddaughter, Charlotte Ava, daughter of Mandy Hyne Hambley in May 2023. She joins her sister Alex. “All are doing great!” (as is Poppa and Mema).

Tom Menke is still practicing anesthesia at an Ambulatory Surgical Center in Stratham, NH. He has five grandkids who live near him. He and his family spend most of their time at their home on Sebago Lake in Maine, where they will retire eventually.

Tom Mahoney had an eventful year. His family spent two weeks on safari in Africa to begin the year. After 13 years, Tom retired in March from my position as Vice President and General Counsel at The College of New Jersey. He then went skiing in Zermatt, Switzerland and visited with Nancy (Sprech) LeMoine C’79 and Rob LeMoine, and Mike McKean and Lori Danuff in Florida. His daughter, Claire, moved back from Amsterdam and got married in April. His son, Sean got married in June, and other son, Brendan, moved back from Switzerland in July. Thankfully, all three kids are now an easy ride away in NYC. At Claire’s wedding, Tom was joined by classmates Stephen Prentiss, Rob LeMoine, and Michael Veloric (see photo, page 7).

And to wrap things up, the alumni office sent me the following news from Gary Freed’s law firm’s Public Relations Department: Freed Grant Founder & Drew Grad Named to Best Lawyers—Gary Freed listed among nation’s elite attorneys.

Freed Grant LLC Founding Partner Gary S. Freed has been named to the 2024 edition of Best Lawyers in America® for the second year in a row, and Freed Grant LLC has been named to the 2024 Best Law Firms® by Best Lawyers®. Gary received his law degree from Emory University School of Law and earned a BA from Drew University.

Freed focuses his practice on business legal matters which include “business divorce,” restrictive covenants, real estate, employment, and probate issues. He has successfully represented businesses that range from large corporations to startups. Freed also is one of the limited number of Atlanta attorneys with a practice in Asian business matters.

“I appreciate the faith clients and peers place in me. It is an honor to again be listed in Best Lawyers. It is an august group to be associated with,” said Freed. “My deepest gratification is in knowing that I help clients achieve their goals in an efficient and timely manner.”

Freed is known for his creative “out of the box” legal thinking. Larger firms often turn to him for complex litigation matters. Freed also believes strongly in giving back to his profession and community. He has been an active member and leader of a wide array of legal, business and community organizations. Congratulations, Gary!

And that’s it from CLA 78. Have a great rest of 2023!

Netine C’22. Other classmates that joined our table were Tricia (Roettinger) and Tom Rosenkilde. Tom is an architect for Rutgers and Tricia is a photography teacher in NYC at the International Center of Photography. At the next table were Rebecca (Emmons) Wisser and husband Robert, both retired from the Dept. of the Army. We also caught up with Larry Levine, Steve Steinberg, and Laurie (Howard) Dublin (Occupational Therapist in Southern CT).

Wandering over to the UC (now called the “EC”) we spoke with Brad Cox (school-based Occupational Therapist) and wife Patty. Brad’s two daughters are married, and he and Patty are grandparents. Brad’s roommate James Dobbins (retired from his corporate law position but continues to consult with the company, practice in anti-counterfeiting, conduct mediations in the North Carolina courts, and serve on for-profit and not-for-profit organizations) and his lovely wife Debbie. Carol (Leader) Smith is the Founder, Executive Director, and Job Counselor for the non-profit Crossroads Jobs, which provides free, individualized job placement and career development services to Loudoun County, VA area residents.

It was time for both our Class Picture as well as one for “80s classes”. As the group broke apart I greeted Lynn (Bannon) Cummings, a school counselor as well as Marilena (Lorenzato) Greig (in sales for AFLAC but has chaired galas for charitable causes) and David Sean Hinchen, an artist in Albany, NY.

A few people mentioned seeing Kelly Kavanagh and Andy Polovoy walking around campus. The lobby of the Rose Memorial Library had an exhibit on yearbooks in a couple of glass display cases—and there was our class—with the page open to “Commencement May 21, 1983”—with a prominent picture of Bob Gittler. Chatting with Bob at the rugby game, he and his wife are empty nesters and he works in economic development. Several other classmates were at the rugby game including Diana “Dee” Bowen, Jim Nicolson (has a painting business in Northern VA and is also a grandfather), Jeremy Smith (of Suffield, CT and involved with Urgent Care), Steve “Loader” Thompson C’83, P’20, and R. Michael Johnson.

Following a buffet dinner and dancing around campus, we made our way over to the Pub and greeted Greg Aikman, Bob Muir, and Tom Lo Presti.

Hope those who attended our reunion enjoyed it and apologize if I missed listing your name.

O’Meally made the Herculean effort (including an overnight stay in the Dallas airport after a canceled flight and a scary Uber ride from SLC) to attend my son, Ian’s, wedding in Peoa, Utah last summer! My son was so touched by her effort, he publicly acknowledged and thanked her at the reception. We were so grateful she was able to be there. Donna and her family have been part of Ian’s life since he was born. See photo, page 7.

Elise (Krovat) and Ken Haderer traveled to visit their daughter, Allie, and her husband, Eddie, who is stationed at the Guam Naval base. After touring around Guam, the four of them had a wonderful vacation in Japan and Korea. In Japan, they visited Tokyo, Hakone, Kyoto, and Nara and saw many temples, shrines, and gardens. In Seoul, Korea, they saw beautifully preserved palaces and went on an amazing tour of the Korean Demilitarized Zone (See photos, page 8). After returning home to Seabrook Island, SC, Ken and Elise have shifted into wedding planning mode. Their son, Steven, and his fiancé, Brandy, are getting married at the Grand Floridian Hotel in Disney World in April 2024. Allie and Eddie are going to celebrate their 2021 civil ceremony with a wedding reception in October 2024 at the Grove Park Inn in Asheville, NC.

Doug McKernan writes that his wife is on her second expat assignment. They moved to Dusseldorf, Germany a year and a half ago, after six years of living just outside Basel, Switzerland. Doug was semi-retired when they first moved, although getting his boys through the International Baccalaureate program was like a job. They have been taking advantage of their central locations to travel throughout Europe, and this month, he finished Sandra Miller’s new book (“very enjoyable”) on the Peloponnese beaches. With their youngest son now at university in Scotland, they are newly empty nesters. He would be happy to share any travel recommendations through the class Facebook page. See photo, page 13.

I (Sandi Miller) had a wonderful summer traveling down the East Coast, promoting my debut novel, WEDNESDAYS AT ONE. At Book Towne bookstore in Manasquan, NJ, fellow Drewid and Acorn editors, Mary

It is with a heavy heart that I share the following news. We lost two dear classmates this summer: Nicholas Angle, who died in August, and Ann (Bready) King, who, after a long battle with cancer, died in September. See In Memoriam, page 19.

The political Theory of Salvage via SUNY Press that has cemented his position in academia as “that guy who writes about trash.” Jason was also interviewed recently by local TV about the United Auto Workers union strike and the tactics used in negotiations (UM-Flint professor: Fain’s use of social media critical to union success). He’d love to hear from anyone via email (jasonkosnoski@yahoo.com), particularly if you disagree with his wife that his beard has gone “really, really, I mean really gray.”

Ann Wallace, a professor of English at New Jersey City University, was named the 2023 – 24 Poet Laureate of Jersey City last winter and was honored to give a reading at Drew in April for National Poetry Month. She reports that she recently began a new project as host and producer of The WildStory: A Podcast of Poetry and Plants for the Native Plant Society of New Jersey, introducing listeners to poets whose work reflects on the natural world, as well as to introduce them to leaders in the fields of ecology, botany, and native plants. The WildStory is available on Spotify, Apple Podcasts, Amazon, and Google, and at npsnj.org/the-WildStory-podcast/. Ann’s second poetry collection, Days of Grace and Silence: A Chronicle of COVID’s Long Haul is due out in winter 2024 from Kelsay Books. The collection chronicles, in real time, Ann’s severe acute infection in spring 2020 and three years of living through Long COVID alongside her daughters, who were also sick. People can follow her work at AnnWallacePhD.com.

Tom Fowler thomas.dennis.fowler@gmail.com Jason Kosnoski lives with his wife Dana Levin and two kids, Gabe (12) and Leah (9), in Ann Arbor Michigan. He is a Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan-Flint, where he says he gets a great amount of satisfaction from teaching, even if the pay is mediocre. His wife is a Professor Social Work at the University of Windsor in Ontario, aka “the Detroit of Canada.” He recently published a book entitled The Political Theory of Salvage via SUNY Press that has cemented his position in academia as “that guy who writes about trash.” Jason was also interviewed recently by local TV about the United Auto Workers union strike and the tactics used in negotiations (UM-Flint professor: Fain’s use of social media critical to union success). Peter Bruckmann, Jr. drewclassof1995@gmail.com Samantha Munson celebrated her 50th birthday at Rat’s Restaurant at Grounds for Sculpture in Hamilton, NJ in July with many fellow Drews in attendance: David Briggs C’94, Nicole (Mauro) Briggs, Shafia (Rashid) Butt, Adrienne Vincenzino, Rich Munson (current Drew Head Swimming & Diving Coach and Samantha’s brother), Carrie McCracken, Vincent Giovacchini C’99, Paul Bonfanti ’94, Heidi Smith, Nikhat.
Rebecca had been promoted to full professor at Claremont McKenna College. She is currently the president-elect of a national academic organization called the American Society of Church History.

A few of our classmates joined her on campus for the event. They included Scott Meyers, Rich Marcus, and Caroline (Morrissey) Megill. See photo, page 8.

Daniel Ilaria wrote to say all three kids are in college. Ilaria is a senior at RWU in Rhode Island. She spent her summer interning at the New England Aquarium and is loving it. The twins started college this fall—Eddie at Centenary University in Hacketstown and Skye at Suffolk University in Boston.

Debra is in her 27th year of teaching—this year it is Photography, and she still directs the full play and spring musical. Paul Coen ’91 continues to work at Drew doing IT.

Sue (Burnham) Raven had a wonderful summer and managed to get together with Alawee “Ali” Raceine during her vacation here in Maine. Amazingly, Sue also managed to connect with her “little sister” Christina (DiGeronimo) Master who was on Mount Desert Island with her family this summer. They hadn’t seen each other since 1997! What a blast to reconnect! Another summer highlight was a trip to DC with her family and two evenings spent with one of her best buddies at Drew. Joell Wallace C’98. “We decided that we’re still just Drew kids around campus, but that our campus has widened into the world. It was like no time went by at all.” Sue aspires to connect with more Drewids over time, and if anyone is in the Bar Harbor area, do reach out!

John Dennehey started his PhD in Cultural Anthropology specializing in Archaeology at SUNY Albany. He is excited to be following his passion while still being a full time bank manager with Key Bank. John is still living in Albany in his historic house that he’s restoring.

Remembering Ann (Bready) King C’86

Ann Bready King, age 59, of 47 Mann Blvd, passed away peacefully on Thursday, September 14, 2023, at Brigham and Women’s Hospital in Boston surrounded by her loving family. Ann was born on August 11, 1964, in Springfield, MA and was the daughter of H. Robert Bready (Judy Petrucelli) and the late Judith O’Neill (Pete Sabey).

After high school, Ann earned her bachelor’s degree in American studies from Drew University, in 1986. She met her beloved husband, Tracy, and the two were wed on August 12, 2000.

For 37 years, Ann worked as a sports information director (sports publicity), first for six years at Drew, then for 17 years at The College of New Jersey (formerly Trenton State College) and most recently for 14 years at Russell Sage College. Ann was extremely active with the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA), the profession’s national organization. She served a term on the executive board and received many awards for her work. She was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in 2006 and was also named the first recipient of the organization’s Warren Berg Award in 2003. She was also selected as the 2018 recipient of the Mary Jo Haverbeck Award, which is presented annually to a CoSIDA member who is a pioneer in the field of sports information who has mentored and helped improve the level of ethnic and gender diversity within CoSIDA.

For all Ann’s professional skills, her innate kindness and unwavering willingness to help others will be her legacy. She would do anything for anyone, without hesitation. Ann was an extremely loving and passionate person, touching the lives of many through work and her personal life. She had a unique ability to connect with others, no matter their background.

In her free time, Ann cherished spending time with her family and friends. In recent years she rediscovered her passion for riding and showing horses. She also greatly enjoyed gardening and traveling, having ventured to forty-seven states in the U.S.

Survivors, in addition to her father, stepmother and stepfather include her husband Tracy A. King, her son Robert King, her sister Ellen Spencer; her mother-in-law Kerry King and her father-in-law Nelson King; her brother-in-law Kevin King and her sister-in-law Michelle King. She is also survived by many aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

Drew University Mourns the Passing of Longtime Professor Hans Morsink

Drew University mourns the loss of Johannes (Hans) Morsink, emeritus professor of political science. Dr. Morsink began his 43-year career at Drew in 1972 teaching in the Department of Philosophy. He taught in the department for 20 years before moving to the Department of Political Science in 1992 where he taught for the next 23 years.

He retired from Drew in 2015 and was honored with professor emeritus status later that year.

“He was a popular teacher and had a tremendous impact on students and colleagues both within and outside the department,” said the Drew University’s College of Liberal Arts Dean’s Office in a message to the Drew community announcing Morsink’s passing.

Dr. Morsink’s 1999 book The Universal Declaration of Human Rights: Origins Drafting and Intent (University of Pennsylvania Press) was acclaimed as “the definitive work on the drafting of the twentieth century’s most important human rights document.”

He published two more books as a member of Drew’s faculty, Inherent Human Rights: Philosophical Roots of the Universal Declaration (University of Pennsylvania Press, 2009) and The Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the Challenge of Religion (University of Missouri Press, 2015).

Morsink continued to publish works after his retirement from Drew. His fourth and final book, published in 2021, was Article by Article: The Universal Declaration of Human Rights for a New Generation (University of Pennsylvania Press).

Colorful anecdotes from faculty colleagues peppered the resolution granting Morsink professor emeritus status in April 2015.

“WHEREAS when Hans taught the First Year Seminars he was a stickler for students showing up on time and was known to purchase loud alarm clocks for them and even go into the dorms and ring the bells of students who overslept and rouse them from bed,” read one entry.

“WHEREAS Hans is likely the only professor in the history of Drew University to appear on the cover of The Acorn [student newspaper] wearing only a speedo bathing suit,” read another.

Dr. Morsink was lauded as an “excellent teacher” who “brought wit and humor” to classrooms and faculty meetings, and was honored for having “excelled in teaching, scholarship, and service since arriving at the University.”

Remembering Bertha Thompson, Friend of Drew University

Bertha T. Thompson, 93, kindhearted and beautiful mother, died on April 7, 2023. Born May 5, 1930, to Harriet Barker Thompson and Pennsylvania State Senator E.J. Thompson and raised in Philipsburg, PA. Bertha attended Phillipsburg High School and Chatham College in Pittsburgh, PA. While attending college Bertha met her husband D. Bard Thompson of Waynesboro, PA, who was finishing his doctoral program at Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary. They married in 1951 and spent many happy years in academic life at Emory University, Vanderbilt University, and Drew University.

Bertha studied art at Drew University and The Visual Arts Center of New Jersey in Summit, as well as with her husband, a sixteenth century historian. After his untimely death in 1987, she spent summers in Italy studying art. Most inspiring were her four summers in Urbino, Italy with the School of Visual Arts in New York. During these years she found a publisher for her husband's almost completed book, and compiled lavish illustrations for the book. Subsequently, she led two tours to Florence and Rome for Drew University.

For over thirty years she participated in a painting group that met every Tuesday and she contributed to local art shows. She also studied the Italian language at Learn Associates.

Her memberships included St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Morristown, the Friends of the Drew Library Committee, the Drew Wives Club, the Drew Liturgical Studies Program, the Board of Managers of the Mount Kemble Home, the Madison Garden Club, the American Historical Association of Waynesboro, the Waynesboro Historical Society and the Shakespeare Festival at Drew University in earlier years.

Bertha leaves behind her daughter, Frances T. Ricciardi, her son-in-law Mark Ricciardi, three grandchildren, Bard Ricciardi (married to Julia), Eliza Leonard (married to William), Lillie Ricciardi and great granddaughter Olivia Ricciardi.

Graveside service and burial will take place in Waynesboro, PA with family members.

The Ricciardi family would like to thank Garden Terrace Nursing Home of Chatham, NJ for their exceptional, unwavering and respectful support of Bertha in her last year of life.

Died to obituary, when available.

Drew Theological School is mourning the loss of Bishop Sudarshana Devadhar G’84, G’87, who passed away on July 18, 2023. He was 72 years old.

He served on Drew’s Board of Trustees from 2004-2012.

“A deeply spiritual, gentle, and compassionate soul who touched the hearts and lives of many,” said Drew University Trustee Bishop John Schol of Devadhar in a statement. “He will be deeply missed.”

Devadhar, whose surname means “follower of God,” earned his Master of Philosophy and PhD from Drew, and a MTh from Perkins School of Theology of Southern Methodist University. He also held a BD from United Theological College, and an undergraduate degree from Vijaya College, University of Mysore, Mulki, India.

“My prayer and my hope is that Drew continues to produce faithful leaders who are not afraid to speak the truth in love to principalities and powers, and empower the people in their care,” said Devadhar as he presented the Statement from the Bishops at the recent installation of Dean Edwin David Aponte.

He was due to embark on a new journey with Drew this fall, serving as the Bell Bishop-in-Residence.

“Like so many others, I was shocked and saddened at the news of Bishop Devadhar’s passing,” said Aponte. “Bishop Suda, as he was affectionately known, was widely respected and loved for his pastoral sensitivity, his effective Episcopal leadership, and his caring mentorship that he bestowed on so many.”

“Bishop Suda’s death is keenly felt in particular since he had agreed to be Drew’s next Bishop-in-Residence and personally I was looking forward to benefit from his wisdom and experience,” continued Aponte. “We will honor the late Bishop Sudarshana Devadhar if we in the Drew community do all that we can to bring his prayer and hope into reality.”

In comments offered at Devadhar’s retirement celebration, Associate Dean Tanya Linn Bennett said, “Bishop Suda’s commitment to justice for all God’s people—a justice that recognizes gifts and graces for ministry and leadership in whatever person embodies them, is demonstrated during his leadership. He has been my spiritual guide, my mentor, my confidante. He is an Episcopal leader who nurtures trust, inspires dedication, invites creativity, mentors, advises, asks deep questions, and listens hard.”

Devadhar’s impact was far-reaching with a “love everybody” mantra.

“I’ve been blessed by Bishop Suda’s encouragement throughout my ministry,” said PhD candidate Beth Quick, who first met Devadhar as a college-aged lay person in the then North Central New York Annual Conference. “I have special memories of Bishop Suda—times when he would call me to talk about a blog post I had made that he wanted to weigh in on, a time when he asked me to give him advice on how he was doing as a bishop, the ways he celebrated my book of sung communion liturgies.”

“But what is special about Bishop Suda is that so many people have special moments like this with him, because he was so gifted at really seeing people, at really caring about each individual person, about seeing the gifts and strengths of each one of us, showing us love, respect, and value. Not many people can do that so well, with so many. Bishop Suda was a treasure.”

Devadhar is survived by his wife, Prema, and their daughter, Tina, son-in-law Gage, and his grandchildren.
Drew Theological School Mourns the Loss of Bishop William Boyd Grove T'54

Drew Theological School is mourning the loss of Bishop William Boyd Grove T’54, who passed away on Friday, October 27, 2023. He was 94 years old. Grove was a retired bishop in the United Methodist Church and the first Council of Bishops ecumenical officer. He earned his Master of Divinity from the Theological School and his Doctor of Ministry from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

Grove was the 1997 recipient of the Theological School’s Distinguished Alumni Service Award, granted to alumni who have exemplified extraordinary service to the University and community.

“The Drew community grieves the passing of our esteemed colleague Bishop William Boyd Grove,” said Theological School Dean Edwin David Aponte. “We celebrate Bishop Grove’s many accomplishments as an alum of Drew, not only within The United Methodist Church but also through his service to the worldwide church. Bishop Grove’s legacy includes the many Drew faculty and graduates whose lives he touched.”

He chaired the United Methodist delegations to the National Council of Churches, the Consultation on Church Union, and the Eighth Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Harare, Zimbabwe.

In 1980, Grove was elected to the episcopacy by the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference and was assigned to the West Virginia Episcopal Area until 1992. He was then assigned to the Albany, New York, Episcopal Area until he retired in 1996.

“Bishop Grove sent me to Drew, his alma mater, the University in the Forest,” remembered Heather Murray Elkins, Professor Emerita of Worship, Preaching, and the Arts. “He appointed me to ministry beyond the West Virginia hills. The uprooting was hard, but he and Mary Lou [Grove’s spouse] kept watch over me and mine.”

Grove is survived by his spouse, Mary Lou, his two daughters, Susan and Rebecca, and his four grandchildren.

Drew Mourns the Loss of Dr. Edward LeRoy Long, Jr.

Drew Theological School is mourning the loss of Dr. Edward LeRoy Long, Jr., James W. Pearsall Professor Emeritus of Christian Ethics and Theology of Culture.

Long passed away on July 21, 2023. He was 99 years old.

Long arrived at Drew in 1976 as a Professor of Christian Ethics. In 1984 he was awarded the James W. Pearsall Professor of Christian Ethics and Theology of Culture. He retired the following year, although he continued to teach as a professor emeritus for several years. He taught a variety of courses, including Christian Ethics, Historical Figures in Christian Ethics, Religion and Law, Theological and Related Diagnoses of Culture, The Reformed Tradition, Personhood, Community and Institutions, and the Church’s Role in Peacemaking.

A Christian ethicist and longtime Presbyterian peace advocate, Long received the Will Herberg Distinguished Professor Award for his contributions to Drew in 1981.

“Dr. Edward LeRoy Long, Jr. served Drew University well in many roles, as teacher and scholar of Christian ethics, mentor, and colleague,” said Theological School Dean Edwin David Aponte. “I am tremendously grateful for Dr. Long’s steadfast commitment to the Theological School, not only during his years of service, but also during his long and active retirement.

“Even in my short time as Dean, I learned that Dr. Long took an active interest in the Theological School, sometimes joining us online for special lectures and chapel, occasionally writing a letter sharing his thoughts and helpful questions,” continued Aponte. “His incredible legacy lives on through the many lives he touched and through all the students who continue to pass through Seminary Hall today and into the future. May he rest in peace. His surviving family members continue to be in our hearts and prayers.”

Long earned his Bachelor of Divinity from Union Theological Seminary and his PhD from Columbia University.

He published numerous books, including The Nature and Future of Christianity and Facing Terrorism: Responding as Christians, and authored more than sixty articles.

Remembering Charleen (Duffie) Caulk C’70

On Friday, May 26, 2023, Charleen Frances (Duffie) Caulk of Nanuet, loving wife, mother, and grandmother, passed away at the age of 74.

Charleen was born on December 8, 1948 in Chicago, Illinois to John and Bertha (Morris) Duffie. Charleen grew up in Paramus, New Jersey and graduated from Drew University, where she met her husband, E. Douglas Caulk, whom she married on December 16, 1972. The couple recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Together they raised two children, Stacey and Jack, and several beloved pets.

Charleen was a consummate volunteer, who participated in and led many community organizations over the years. Her biggest commitments were to youth – highlighted by her leadership in PTA for 16 years and her long tenure on the Nanuet School Board—and to her church community. Never content to do only what was asked, she looked to see what was needed and worked to fill that need. She created many programs that outlasted her, in both the schools and her church. She was driven by her ability to see the good in the world and in each person she encountered. To her close friends and family, she will be remembered as the one who never forgot a birthday or an important event.

Charleen was preceded in death by her father, John, and her mother, Bertha. She is survived by her husband, Douglas, her son Jack Caulk and his wife, Jenni Klick, her daughter Stacey Caulk and her husband, Alan Eskandari, her two grandchildren, Van and Kai Eskandari, and her brother, John Duffie. A memorial service to celebrate her life and her service to the community will be held on Saturday, June 10, 2023 at the New City United Methodist Church on Congers Road at two o’clock p.m. In lieu of flowers, the family is requesting donations be made in Charleen’s memory to two organizations she ardently supported: The Trevor Project, an organization that focuses on suicide prevention among LGBTQ+ youth, and the Martin Luther King Multi-Purpose Center in Spring Valley, a local organization that provides support and community-building to youth, families, and elders.
